BIOGRAPHY FOR LILA

Lila (LEE-LAH) is a seasoned, professional multi-instrumentalist whose dedication to her craft is shown through her musical expression, compositions, and enthusiastic performances. Her primary instrument is the violin and her mastery of the instrument's intricacies gives her the innate ability to touch the heart, soul, and spirit of her listeners.

While at Georgetown University, Lila was selected out of a nationwide audition to participate in the New York String Seminar Orchestra, where she had the opportunity to be mentored by Maestro Emeritus Alexander Schneider and Maestro Isaac Stern. Through consortium, she went on to become a founding member of The Howard University String Quartet, and a student at The Blair School of Music at Vanderbilt University. After participating in classical performances at Carnegie Hall and The Kennedy Center, Lila felt a strong desire to explore the musical genre of jazz and became enthralled with incorporating violin and other orchestral instruments into this endless sea of creativity that is given to us all through jazz.

In 1999, Lila won The City of Dreams Hollywood Unsigned Artist Talent Showcase in Hollywood, CA where she received rave reviews. Following that achievement, Lila returned to Washington, DC where she founded her first performing arts company through which she made the performing arts accessible and affordable to children from underserved communities in the greater Washington area. In 2000, Lila had the opportunity to perform as the opening act for hip-hop recording artist, DMX, during his East Coast tour. In 2001, she relocated her performing arts company to her hometown of Memphis, TN, merged with The Memphis Area Youth Association, and began training students in the Whitehaven area through donated space inside of Bishop Byrne High School. Within months, Lila's students were coming to Whitehaven from areas as far as Bartlett, Germantown, Midtown, East Memphis, Hickory Hill, West Memphis, Arkansas, and Southaven, Mississippi. Lila and her students have presented over 20 recitals and performances. They have also accepted invitations and performed at The Whitehaven Jazz Festival, The Marvin Gaye Tribute at The Gibson Guitar Lounge, The Marvin Gaye Tribute at The Cannon Center for the Performing Arts, The Martin Luther King, Jr. Birthday Celebration at The National Civil Rights Museum, Jazz Kids' Night at Café Soul, The Cooper-Young Festival, and numerous community performances at libraries, nursing homes, and children's events.

In the last year, Lila has performed in numerous venues locally and nationally including The Memphis Italian Festival, The NeoSoulville website launch party, and Fire and Ice Jazz Club. In September of 2007, Lila opened the Congressional Black Caucus' Jazz Forum and Concert with her rendition of "The National Anthem" and "Lift Every Voice and Sing", and she was the featured entertainment for the VIP Reception at The Congressional Black Caucus' Annual Legislative Conference. In October of 2007, this outstanding band also opened for and backed up The Drifters at a show in Missouri. Additional performances are listed as booked via Lila's website, www.musicbylila.com.

Currently, Lila is a proud mother and teaches throughout the Greater Memphis area. Her participation in The Memphis Area Youth Association has helped her to make music a reality for local youth who may not be able to afford music lessons. In June of 2008, Lila was invited to be a featured artist at The Jamaica Ocho Rios International Jazz Festival, where the theme was "Women in Jazz". Lila agreed not only to perform, but also to conduct workshops throughout the festival week at The Alpha Boys Orphanage, which was the festival community's fundraising focus. She strives hard to fulfill her mission of exposing young people to the arts who would not otherwise have access to strings education. In addition, she pushes her students to explore many different musical genres along with their classical music foundation. Students of Lila experiment with jazz, rock, hip-hop, country/"fiddle", blues, gospel, and world music. Lila is committed to teaching her students the importance of giving back to the community through their donated performances to nursing homes, children's events, and civic organizations.
